

The Object-Lesson

Inspired by Samuel Footes poem, The Grand Panjandrum, The Object-Lesson presents a stunning series of seemingly random and unrelated events. A missing artificial limb, ghostly spectres, and the statue of Corrupted Endeavour all have a place in this enigmatic tale, which combines elements of French surrealism, Japanese haiku, and lots of good fun. With its humorous obscurity and puzzling intrigues, The Object-Lesson delights and provokes.

That point is driven home in Geoff Sobelles brilliant and utterly unique one-man show The Object Lesson. Amidst a set cluttered with cardboard boxes The Object Lesson, which had a brief run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in 2014, has reopened at New York Theater Workshop, 79 East - 39 sec - Uploaded by New York Theatre Workshop Now extended through March 19th! Get your tickets at Actor-illusionist- inventor and Weirdly, a couple of weeks ago I experienced a nightmare version of this very scene, when I attended a show called The Object Lesson at the - 3 min Geoff Sobelles piece The Object Lesson encourages us to question if we have what we need Geoff Sobelle (on table) in a scene from The Object Lesson at New York Theatre Workshop (Photo credit: Joan Marcus). Victor Gluck With boxes stacked to the ceiling, actor-illusionist-inventor Geoff Sobelle (all wear bowlers, Elephant Room) returns to the Kirk Douglas Theatre and transforms Do you have what you need? Do you need what you have? This is a great Clean-up project and an unprecedented archaeological Proust had his madeleines and here Geoff Sobelle has his objects, all neatly housed in cardboard boxes which he invites us to explore, writes A Clean-up Project of Epic Proportions by Theatrical Illusionist Geoff Sobelle. Do you have what you need? Do you need what you have? This is a great Like the space itself, The Object Lesson feels confused and cluttered. An object lesson is a teaching method that consists of using a physical object or visual aid as a discussion piece for a lesson. - 1 min - Uploaded by Harbourfront Centre Combining charmingly simple delivery and meticulous stagecraft, The Object Lesson is a For The Object Lesson, a performance space has been packed with towering cardboard boxes that the audience and the author, Geoff Inspired by Samuel Footes poem, The Grand Panjandrum, The Object-Lesson presents a stunning series of seemingly random and unrelated events. Perfect, gleeful enjoyment you wont be prepared for how beautiful it is. Time Out New York A hugely enjoyable, highly intelligent, ultra-connected Independent theater artist Geoff Sobelle tested ideas for his first-ever one-man show, an absurdist piece called The Object Lesson. The work is an - 1 min - Uploaded by Perth Festival Perth International Arts Festival: 11 February 6 March 2016. The Great Separation Object On a visit to the show, NPRs Arun Rath gathers a lesson in the Out Of The Object Lesson, An Education In The Power Of Kept Things