

The Glass Painters Daughter

From the Sunday Times bestselling author of A Week in Paris, a story of love long kept hidden, set against the back streets of Westminster. In a tiny stained-glass shop hidden in the backstreets of Westminster lies the cracked, sparkling image of an angel. The owners of Minster Glass have also been broken: Fran Morrisons mother died when she was a baby; a painful event never mentioned by her difficult, secretive father Edward. Fran left home to pursue a career in foreign cities, as a classical musician. But now Edward is dangerously ill and its time to return. Taking her fathers place in the shop, she and his craftsman Zac accept a beguiling commission - to restore a shattered glass picture of an exquisite angel belonging to a local church. As they reassemble the dazzling shards of coloured glass, they uncover an extraordinary love story from the Victorian past, sparked by the windows creation. Slowly, Fran begins to see her own reflection in its themes of passion, tragedy and redemption. Frans journey will lead her on a search for the truth about her mother, through mysteries of past times and the anguish of unrequited love, to reconciliation and renewal. Praise for A Week in Paris: A tour de force. Rachels Paris is rich, romantic, exotic and mysterious Judy Finnigan An elegiac tale of wartime love and secrets Telegraph A richly emotional story, suspenseful and romantic, but unflinching in its portrayal of the dreadful reality and legacy of war Book of the Week, Sunday Mirror
