

When the three lovely Caldwell girls, Imogen, Elsie and Daisy learn that their haberdashery stall is to be taken over, they are initially apprehensive. Once they realise their livelihood is not at stake, they begin to enjoy their freedom. Elsie finds romance and Daisy discovers her true vocation in a nursing career. Immy feels increasingly left behind. Although her old friend James Church is eager to further their relationship, Immy won't settle for less than true love. As the threat of war becomes real, will Immy realise in time that what she has been searching for is on her doorstep...?
